THE sun is finally out and temperatures are also rising on the fashion front.

As spring gets into full swing, girls in the know are ditching the traditional winter black in favour of something more floral, flirty and fabulous.

The latest collection from Dresses.ie embraces the new season with open arms as pinks and pastels take centre stage.

The fashion label is currently looking for a new face to represent the brand at the Miss Universe competition in June. A spokeswoman said: "The standard of entries has been phenomenal but we'll be accepting CVs until the end of the month.

"Our ideal candidate would be 5ft 7ins or taller, a size six to 10, be finished secondary school and aged between 18 and 25. They must be interested in fashion and breaking into modelling."

All candidates should send an email with photo to lisa@heartandsoul.ie or by post to Eimear Burton, Manager, Dresses. ie, Arena House, Arena Road, Sandyford, Co Dublin.

The spokeswoman added: "You also need to say why you would like to be Miss Dresses.ie 2010 and the name of your favourite dress on www.dresses.ie and explain why you like it."
